There is a dark place
where one goes.
Not because one wishes to go there.
But one is found there one day.
For no reason.
So dark no exit is found.
There is no path in the dark.
We may be heard by the one in the dark.
Words we use may send the one deeper into the dark.
Words said must be followed by careful listening.
Expect much silence.
Words from the dark may never come.
But we must listen to the one lost in the dark.
