When my wings are healed I will fly to the sun
I will find you when I am me again But for now don't ask and I won't lie, it's easy to avoid my eyes, keep these secrets inside until the wind lifts me higher than I've been, far beyond a world of broken dreams.
If by chance you see me there please say the things I need to hear and look away from my tears.

*When I am strong I'll carry you across the sky
When I am strong I'll let you hold me when I cry*

When my soul is healed I will break the chain and find you when I am free again Somewhere beyond the morning light everything will be alright

*When I am strong I'll carry you across the sky
When I am strong I'll let you hold me when I cry*
I'll chase the shadows out of bed and scream at all the voices in my head, they will be so surprised when I am strong!
When I am strong
When I am strong
When I am strong,
maybe I'll keep promises and learn to pray
between kisses
